STEFANSSON'S BOAT WRECKED IN ARCTIC

MARY SACHS CAUGHT IN ICE FIELD; NONE OF PARTY REPORTED HURT.

NOME, Alaska, Nov. 28.—The power schooner Mary Sachs, one of the boats of Vilhjalmur Stefansson's Canadian Arctic exploration expedition, has been wrecked in the ice off the Arctic coast of Alaska. News of the loss of the Mary Sachs was received here today in a letter from Peter Bernard, captain of the vessel.

The ice crushed the vessel into small bits and all the provisions and scientific instruments aboard were lost. The letter gives no details of the mishap. As nothing is said of any injury to the men on the Mary Sachs, it is believed all are safe, as they could easily make their way over the ice to shore, where they could obtain shelter with the natives. No word was received concerning the Karluk and the Alaska.

(Report by Messenger.)

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 28.—The auxiliary boat Mary Sachs was purchased at Nome by Vilhjalmur Stefansson, for use of the southern party of the Canadian expedition, which also has the power schooner Alaska. Dr. R. M. Anderson, commanding the southern party, is aboard the Alaska, and Kenneth Chipman, the Canadian geologist, was placed in command of the Mary Sachs.

The last reports received from the expedition were carried by messenger to Circle City, Alaska, arriving there November 10. The messenger reported the Mary Sachs and the Alaska, 100 miles west of the International boundary.

The Mary Sachs was a gasoline schooner of 200 tons gross. Earlier she carried a crew of three men and was built at Benicia, Cal., in 1886.

The southern party was to have made a scientific exploration of Victoria Land and Banks Land, while Stefansson, on the Karluk, explored the unmaped region in Desford sea Port Clarence, Alaska, the last point where she was in telegraphic communication with the outside world. Kenneth Chipman, Henry Acham, the Joseph Patapsco, L. and George Williams of Elkay, Australia, photographer, 1844 the only scientist on board.

When the Mary Sachs left Teller, Port Clarence, Alaska, the last point where she was in telegraphic communication with the outside world, Kenneth Chipman, Henry Acham, the Joseph Patapsco, L. and George Williams of Elkay, Australia, photographer, 1844 the only scientist on board.

In order to economize time, only a skeleton crew was taken, the men that assisting in working the vessel.

G. H. GUEHLER SLIPS FROM TOP OF HOUSE AND PITCHES OVER precipice

A 40-foot fall from the roof of Bonhie castle, a magnificent home being constructed near Rockledge, in Manitou, nearly resulted yesterday noon in death for G. H. Guehler, a painter, living at 202 Cheyenne road. Guehler struck on his arms, sustaining fractures of both at the elbows and severe bruises. The extent of internal injuries was not known last night but his condition is serious.

Guehler was working on a scaffolding on the roof of the home. He missed his footing, rolled from the roof and fell 40 feet down a precipice to the side of the house. Dr. L. H. Beck of Manitou was called and Guehler was taken to his home. An X-ray examination will be made of his injuries today.

Bonhie castle is being built near the mountain bungalow of E. S. Heath, prominent retired Philadelphia business man. It is said to represent an expenditure of about $250,000 and will be one of the most beautiful residences in the region. It is now near completion and a corps of workmen was busy painting the roof when Guehler fell.

SCHENECTADY STRIKE SOON MAY BE SETTLED

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Nov. 28.—Prospects for an amicable settlement of the strike at the General Electric company's plant are brighter tonight than at any time since the 14,000 employees walked out Tuesday. After a five hours' conference, company officials and strikers' representatives failed to reach a definite agreement, but announcement was made that "the outlook is favorable."

The episode took place at a luncheon given by John Barrett, director-general of the Pan-American Union. In addition to the Latin-American minister, collector Folk of the state department, Boas W. Long, chief of the Latin-American division, and a few personal friends were present.

Ambassador Dr. Gauca and Senor Gauca of Costa Rica spoke in a happy vein, praising Mr. Barrett and his work. Rt. Rev. Charles W. Currier, bishop of Matanzas, Cuba, declared that the time ought to be near when the United States would not monopolize the term "America," but when it should be applied alike to all countries on the western hemisphere.

The Americas for Americans was the keynote of Senator Chamberlain's address. He declared that the countries of North and of South America should unite to keep out the perils to the rest of us and to preserve the civilization and the ideals now possessed by countries of the western hemisphere.

LACK OF DISCIPLINE CAUSE OF DISASTER, CHARGE PASSENGERS

NEWSPAPER STYL IS MOST EFFICIENT
Teachers of Journalism Strong
Supporters of Modern
Daily

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 28.—Charges that lack of discipline and proper equipment was responsible for the loss of a passenger, the fourth officer and two seamen of the steamer President in a heavy blow off the California coast Wednesday were made by passengers when the liner reached here. An investigation was begun at once by the United States inspectors as the President was to sail for San Diego later in the day.

Twenty or 30 passengers were on the steamer's decks when the cry, "Man overboard," was raised. A sea had boarded the ship, sweeping one man over the side.

"Stewards, sailors and officers began running up and down the decks," said F. H. Van Kooijerken, vice-president and chief engineer of the Holland-Indian railways, who is touring the United States with his family and was an eyewitness.

"The first mate ordered a lifeboat lowered. There was much confusion about manning it. When it swung out the forward fall gave way and the boat hung perpendicularly and was crushed against the ship's side. Four of her crew of seven clung to the tackle and were saved. The other three were spilled into the sea."

Van Kooijerken said no life line could be found about the decks and that it was long before a second boat, manned by a volunteer crew, including the ship's bartender and a passenger, was lowered. The four men who had gone overboard could not be found. Forty minutes later the President returned her course.

Will A. Barnes, formerly a newspaper man of Bellingham, Wash., who was a passenger on the ship, published a signed statement here today saying the men who were lost were drawn down by the swirl from the ship's propeller. The engines, he said, were going astern in the effort to hold the steamer in position in the heavy sea.

COPPER "MADONNA AND CHILD" COMING TO U. S.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Another of Europe's highly prized treasures of art is coming to America, according to several cable advices which say that the celebrated Copper "Madonna and Child" by Raphael has been purchased by American dealers at a price above half a million dollars. The painting is known as the Copper picture because it was the chief treasure of the late Earl Copper's collection at Paeselager, Harford, Eng.

It has lately been in the possession of Lord Lansdowne.

One of the difficulties under which the famous picture was sold, is that it should first be offered to the British National gallery. This was done a month ago but the National gallery, with its small annual grant was unable to raise the high price asked.

The painting portrays the virgin wearing a red tunic cut square over the breast and a blue mantle. The child has one foot resting on its mother's left hand with the arms round her neck. The canvas is only 23 by 17 inches but it has often been described as one of the most valuable in the world.

It was painted in 1500 and is said to be the last Raphael produced by the master's own hand that remains in possession of private parties with the exception of Lady Mond's picture, which has already been bequeathed to the British National gallery and Mrs.

John L. Gardner's portrait of the Vatican Librarian, Inghirami, and her

Frederick piece, which it is believed are to go to an American purchaser.

The dealers who have purchased the Copper have announced they have no

American purchaser in sight, but that the picture will be immediately removed to the United States and undoubtedly disposed of to private collectors here.

Not an Experiment

Paint Dick, Ky.—Mrs. Mary Freeman, of this place, says: "Before I commenced to take Cardui, I suffered so much from womanly trouble! I was so weak that I lay down on my back nearly all the time. Cardui has done me more good than any medicine I ever took in my life. I can't possibly praise it too highly." You need not be afraid to take Cardui. It is no new experiment. For fifty years, it has been found to relieve headache, backache, and similar womanly troubles. Composed of gentle-acting, herb ingredients, Cardui builds up the strength, preventing much unnecessary pain.

MEAT CAUSE OF

KIDNEY TROUBLE

TAKES HATS TO FLUSH KID-

NEYS IF BACK HURTS OR

WEATHER BOthers

If you must have your meat every day, eat it, but flush your kidneys with salts occasionally, says a noted authority who tells us that meat forms uric acid which almost paralyzes the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken, then you suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sour, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the kidneys often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids to cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body without waste get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here, take tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then be fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with salts, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in meat, so it no longer irritates, thus lessening bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot increase the cost of a delightful effervescent salt water drink. Adv.

STEAM SHOVELS USED ON PITTSBURG SEWERS

PITTSBURG, Nov. 28.—Steam shovels were today employed in tearing up the remnants of the nine-foot sewer, wrecked for a mile in the Lawrenceville district by an explosion of sewer gas last Wednesday. Debris has clogged the channel and sewage and water backing up had undermined the walls of the brewery so that it was in danger of falling in. Two hundred employees were hurriedly driven into the street by city inspectors.

Director of Public Works John Hart announced today that the city would replace the wrecked sewer with an adequate tunnel at a cost of $1,000,000.

the very style as the most efficient style of this modern day for presenting information through the written word. It has been hammered out in the heat and atoms of newspaper work to meet the demands of the millions for writing to compel their attention, interest them and give them information in the quickest, clearest way possible.

The news writer comes fresh from the things he writes and puts the energy and life, or, it may be, the joy and sorrow of what he has just seen or heard into the living, breathing words of his story.

"There is a vital, living quality in news writing that demands attention and grips interest. This style is more and more essential in the equipment of every successful writer is the clearest, most concise and most interesting style in which things can be written," declared Prof. F. W. Beckman, of the department of journalism of Iowa State college today in addressing the professors of journalism of 19 colleges and universities gathered here for the second meeting of the American conference of teachers of journalism.

The news sense, the ability to see what is new and its new meaning to the great mass of humanity, is necessary to men in every field of endeavor, but especially to the men who write.

The kind of men needed in agricultural journalism was described by Charles Dillon, former head of the department of agricultural journalism at Kansas Agricultural college, now of Topeka, Kan.

Professor James Melvin Lee of New York university discussed instruction in advertising, circulation matters and other phases of the newspaper in connection with college courses in journalism.

UNION SOCIETY FOR PREVENTION OF CRUELTY
TO ENGLISH LANGUAGE

CHICAGO, Nov. 28.—Joseph Jastrow, of the University of Wisconsin, speaking here today before the National Council of Teachers of English, referred to the possibility of a society for the prevention of cruelty to the English language.

"There is a vital, living quality in news writing that demands attention and grips interest. This style is more and more essential in the equipment of every successful writer is the clearest, most concise and most interesting style in which things can be written," declared Prof. F. W. Beckman, of the department of journalism of Iowa State college today in addressing the professors of journalism of 19 colleges and universities gathered here for the second meeting of the American conference of teachers of journalism.

"Not even the Library Protection Board could now compete with the daily newspaper as the most powerful and most pervasive influence of our day and nation." According to Professor Scott urged that the language as well as the spirit of the newspaper should be the equal of that required of any other daily visitor to the family circle.

He said that slang, colloquialisms, indiscriminate use of words, violations of grammar and style, the split infinitive, the dangling participle, the abuse of "transpire," "inaugurate" and "enthusiasm" could all be corrected and he pleaded far more against any violations of the great principles of good writing and appreciation—the principles of amenity, truth, sincerity and self-respect. It was suggested by Professor Scott that in every high school, junior and senior year a definite time, say a week, be set apart for instruction in regard to the newspaper week.

Professor Jastrow told the result of an inquiry as to what would be the outcome if 50 objectionable expressions caught in ordinary conversation were fined such amounts, varying from one cent to $1, as seemed fit punishment for each separate offense. The judges, 68 in number, included 12 women. Half of the 68 reside east of the Alleghenies. Among them are college professors, leading editors and readers for prominent publishing houses. An average fine of nearly 43 cents for each offense was the outcome.

Professor Jastrow suggested that the revenues from enforcement of the fines would make a substantial fund to be distributed in prizes by a society of cruelty to English speech. What prompted Professor Jastrow's unique inquiry was a study of linguistic sensibility as a field for the distribution of variety of factors of judging process.

F. N. Scott of the University of Michigan, whose topic was "The Undefined Gate," asked:

"Or what use is it to drill pupils in grammar, to sweat over compositions, to spend months after month in the reading and study of singular master-

WITH THANKSGIVING OVER CHRISTMAS LOOMS LARGE ON HOLIDAY HORIZON; 25 DAYS MAKE

Store Windows Already Decked in Yuletide Attire, and 'Shop Early' Slogan Is Heard

Just as grass and love are the harbingers of spring, so store windows are the harbingers of the glad Yuletide. Gengaves and fairy creations of all descriptions, alluring alike to the purse of the rich and poor, now adorn the display windows of the Colorado Springs merchants.

Now that Thanksgiving has come and gone the slogan "Do Your Christmas Shopping Early" is being heralded broadcast from press, pen and tongue. This year, however, the slogan is not confined to shopping. In this modern day the old saying has numerous variations. Now it is do your Christmas mailing, your Christmas selling thinking, writing and giving early. Verily, the world may soon expect to hold old Christmas itself, early. But the idea is no doubt a good one, judging from the wise men who champion it. All of this earnestness will no doubt save many pains to the thousands of clerks in stores and post-offices.

May Be Premature Rush.

The only thing to guard against now is a premature rush. Everybody may do things so early that the rush will come before it is expected. However, this condition will doubtless never arrive so long as good old human nature has its way. There will always be laggards and last-minute men.

Christmas, though, is really coming. Of course that is not a strikingly original statement, nor a new one either. To be sure Christmas is coming. Why, even the blind man on the corner can see that. There seems to be a certain spirit of the holidays about everything. Mother is making mincemeat. Mabel is having her picture taken. Beatrice is making night caps. Little Bobby is going to Sunday school every Sunday. Keeping his hands clean and the wood box full every day, and father is looking over his bank book, trying to figure out just how to avoid drawing the color line. Oh, there's no doubt about it, Christmas is coming. How many days away? "Just 26," answers Robert, without hesitation, although he has never shown any marked aptness at mental arithmetic before.

Everybody Making Preparation.

True, the day it is some distance off, but still it is some distance off.

SPRINGS POULTRY FANCERS Will Exhibit at Denver

January Show of Chickens Will Be Most Attractive Ever Held; Prizes to Be Worth $1,000

Colorado Springs will be a heavy exhibitor at the coming poultry show at Denver January 12-17, and local chicken fanciers are already making preparations for the meeting. Colorado Springs men have already taken a large share of the prize money at the annual poultry exhibit which is given under the auspices of the Colorado Poultry Fanciers association. This year an exceptional list of cups and trophies are offered.

The local entries have to compete with entries from all Colorado, Nebraska, Wyoming and New Mexico. Twenty-two loving cups and trophies to the value of $1,000 and other premiums, a gaging $1,000, have been provided by Denver business men for prizes.

The main object of the poultry association has been the provision of a central market for poultry and the organization has had the endorsement of the Greater Colorado bureau of the chamber of commerce at Denver. The association is also trying to introduce the latest and most scientific methods among all of the Colorado fanciers.

More than $8,000,000 worth of poultry is consumed in Colorado annually and of this amount only about half is raised within the state. The poultry fanciers of the state therefore have plenty of chance to expand their industry.

Special Features at Tomorrow's Concert

Two special feature numbers have been arranged for the orchestra concert tomorrow afternoon in the Princess theater. Miss Amy Ahrens will play Bach's Symphonic Espagnole accompanied by the orchestra.

The other feature will be the first presentation of the "Romance" for strings which was composed by D. E. Rawley of the orchestra.

Sunday December 7 the concert will be omitted because of the Elks memorial service, but with this exception the concerts will be continued regularly for an indefinite time. Their continuance has been assured by the steady increase in collections at the door unless these collections hold up, however, the small reserve fund which the musical club provided to make up the deficit at each concert, will not hold out. The fund is now down to $50, and better offerings will be necessary to make the concerts last through 20 weeks. The program for tomorrow follows:

NOTABLES TO ATTEND ARMY-NAVY GAME AT NEW YORK THIS P. M.

PRESIDENT WILSON WILL DIVIDE HIS TIME BETWEEN TWO RIVAL CAMPS

SPECTATORS MAKING BIG MONEY ON TICKETS; 100,000 WANT TO SEE CONTEST

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—President Wilson, who will witness the Army-Navy game with members of his family and cabinet, arrived this evening and spent the night at the home of friends. He will return to Washington Saturday night. At the game he will divide his time equally between the Army and Navy sides. It is expected that he will witness the first half of the game from box 20 on the Army side of the field and during the intermission will cross to the middies' stand, where boxes 189, 191 and 192 have been set aside for his party.

In addition to the chief executive, there will be many prominent box-holders. A partial list includes the following well-known officers of the army and navy corps, the general government service and other persons of prominence:

Vice President Marshall, Secretary of State Bryan, Secretary of War Garrison, Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo, Secretary of Commerce Redfield, Attorney General McReynolds, Post-Attorney General McReynolds, Post-George Dewey, Major Gen. Thomas H. Wood, U. S. A.; Major Gen. Leonard Wood, U. S. A.; Rear Adm. Charles D. Sigsbee, U. S. A.; Retired: Rear Adm. R. B. Bradford, U. S. N.; Rear Adm. J. A. Rodgers, U. S. N.; Rear Adm. W. N. Little, U. S. N.; Rear Adm. Richard Wainwright, U. S. N.; Rear Adm. T. B. Howard, U. S. N.; Rear Adm. W. H. Howell, U. S. N.; Brig. Gen. A. L. Miles, U. S. A.

The demand for tickets continues to increase and the New York club management as well as every member of the two academies is fairly overwhelmed with requests for coupons or even admission priceboards. Every available foot of space that will hold a seat has been utilized by the construction department and as a result nearly 45,000 persons will witness the game. Very few tickets have reached the hands of speculators and these are held at high prices: $20 and $25 each is the rate quoted for coupons of $2 value, yet the speculators found eager customers at these figures.

Did any of you football fans ever see Jack Taylor take out time? The only game in which Taylor had to retire was at Denver, November 15, when, playing against the Ministers, he sprained his ankle in the last minute of play. Taylor played every game and, when we say "played," we mean it.

The Athletics are going to reorganize for 1914. They will have an entirely new design of traveling uniforms.

BE A "SPUG"

THE word "Spug," one of the latest additions to the English language, is derived from the initial letters of the title of the Society for the Prevention of Useless Giving. The society was organized in New York two or three years ago by a few sensible people in an effort to curtail Christmas extravagance. It got a fairly good start last year and with the help of much deserved publicity is now growing at an amazing rate. Anybody can be a "Spug," but membership in the society costs ten cents a year for dues and involves the wearing of a pin. According to yesterday's dispatches five hundred people enrolled in one day in Washington.

Long live the "Spugs!" Their field of usefulness embraces the entire United States, and the people who ought to belong number about half of the population. Extravagant Christmas giving is a national vice. There are people who make it a ceremony, spending more than they can afford and putting themselves in debt for six months to come in an effort to give something handsomer and costlier than they expect to receive. The inevitable tendency is to develop a spirit of barter and trade. Instead of giving to a friend something which, while inexpensive, is yet in good taste and a sufficient reminder of the spirit of good will which prompted or made him prompt—it, they buy something costly and it's a worry and fret over the danger that the present will seem cheap and tawdry in comparison with the one exchanged in return. This is undeniably the evil which pervades a great deal of the Christmas giving, and it is altogether bad, not merely because it encourages extravagance, but because it is based on hypocrisy.

The "Spug" movement will afford an opportunity, or rather an excuse, for thousands of people to break away from a habit which hitherto they have not had the courage to discontinue. It ought to spread throughout the country.

LORD HALDANE'S SPEECH

THE speech delivered by Lord Haldane at the Thanksgiving dinner of the American Society in London ought to be distinctly gratifying to American readers not so much because of his praise of President Wilson as because of his virtual endorsement of the Monroe Doctrine. Lord Haldane's remarks about the President's character and abilities are richly deserved, though opinion may differ as to the wisdom of the Mexican policy which formed the subject of those remarks.

But it happens that the Monroe Doctrine has never been formally and definitely accepted by any European power. Its application to specific cases has been endorsed on occasion by one government or another, but the fact remains that we can never be certain in any crisis that Europe will give the policy its approval. Hence the significance of the present expressions by the Lord High Chancellor of Great Britain.

And their significance is even greater because of the events which immediately preceded them. Three or four weeks ago the people of both countries were startled by reports of a decided disagreement between the governments of Great Britain and the United States respecting the policy of the latter toward Mexico. Several months previously President Wilson had announced his determination to conduct all negotiations with Mexico in the eyes of the world and to keep the European chancelleries informed as to every move. This was not only a recognition of their own large interests in Mexico, but a frank acknowledgment of the value which the American government placed on the support of Europe.

It was therefore decidedly surprising when Sir Lionel Carden, newly appointed British ambassador to Mexico, presented his credentials to Huerta immediately after that worthy had proclaimed himself dictator, and at the same time gave an interview to the correspondents in which he said that the American government did not understand the Mexican problem. Later

Sir Lionel discreetly disavowed the interview or rather his government disavowed it for him, but his actions remained as evidence of an official attitude which could scarcely be construed as in harmony with that of the Washington administration.

Perhaps the episode afforded no real cause for worry after all, for expressions of the entire British press showed that the people of England certainly are not in sympathy with any evidence of British support of Huerta. These expressions have now been confirmed by Lord Haldane, and he has gone even further by virtually admitting the application of the Monroe doctrine to the case. In view of his high position this is to be construed as nothing less than an expression of the British government, and as such it will add considerably to the moral pressure which is steadily forcing Huerta into the background.

EXIT THE TAX FERRET

THE experience of County Treasurer Bryan with Charles A. Fant, the so-called "tax ferret," should prove a lesson both to him and to subsequent treasurers who may be tempted to adopt the Fant method of collecting taxes. Fant had a bad record, both in this city during his previous employment fifteen years ago, and elsewhere. Mr. Bryan should have known this when he hired him last summer. But whatever his past may have been, the man developed an irregular streak immediately after he went to work on the treasurer's books.

He affected a knowledge of the tax laws superior to that of attorneys and courts, and by devious methods sought to intimidate various people into paying taxes which were not legally assessable. When his expert knowledge of taxation was subjected to scrutiny it was found to consist of pretense and bluff in equal parts. He boldly asserted that certain court decisions were unconstitutional, but when backed into a corner frankly admitted that his only reason for this position was that he himself believed them to be unconstitutional.

It is not surprising that the man who displayed these extraordinary traits turned out to be a common gaffer. Fortunately for himself he was clever enough to cover up his tracks so well that he could not be prosecuted. The county is well rid of him.

State street is one of those world-thoroughfares which need no address. Even the residents of England and other countries of sense ignorance regarding America know that State street is in Chicago, and is the most prominent garnish in its business center.

State street is one of Chicago's original streets, and has now been doing business for almost 30 years.

It begins north of the Chicago river, crosses it in a series of intricate confusion, and proceeds due southward far past the outermost layers of the city's business.

No one knows how far State street goes except the surveyors who laid it out.

They abandoned it only because they got lost.

It is also said to be the shortest street in the world.

It varies from a few feet wide to 100 feet wide.

It is 20 stories high in some sections, 10 in others.

It is 200 feet wide, 100 feet deep.

It is 100 feet wide, 200 feet deep.

NEW YORK MARKET

CHICAGO MARKET

NOW YORK. Nov. 28.—A flurry in call money, which rose to 10 per cent., effectively curbed any inclination toward active speculation in stocks today. The drift of prices was downward and for a few of the newer industrials fell back 1 to 2 points but among the leading stocks changes were slight.

It was the last buying day of the month and money rates were affected by preparations for December 1 paymenst. The large outflow of currency during the week and the rise in call money aroused apprehension of an unfavorable bank statement tomorrow.

Of the leading stocks Amalgamated was under heaviest pressure. Speculative selling was based on cessation of demand for the metal the recent cut in price having produced only temporary buying movement. Bullish operations in Union Pacific based on the favorable October report, were successful for a time but after the price had been bid up a point it eased off again. United States Realty was affected by the failure of New York real estate concern and slumped six points. Cal-Cotton and preferred also were weak. Mexican Petroleum preferred gained 2 points.

Bonds showed an easier tendency. Total bonds per value $1,255,000. U. S. bonds were unchanged on call. Quotations furnished by Otn & Co.

DR. PRICE'S CREAM BAKING POWDER

A Pure Cream of Tartar Powder

Dr. Wm. Sedgwick Saunders, Medical Officer of Health of the City of London, Eng., was good enough to say that a long and universal experience has proved a cream of tartar powder the most efficient, safe and economical, making food which could not be deleterious to the most delicate stomach.

In England the sale of baking powder containing alum is absolutely prohibited.

WHEN BUYING BAKING POWDER READ THE LABEL.

The Theatre

The "Count of Monte Cristo" is the latest vital nail in which the newspaper drama is held in this country, and upon which the public is now but upon which it always had a hold. The way of the play to the subject was "The Count of Monte Cristo," a novel by Alexandre Dumas, first published in 1844. It deals with the life of a man who, after being wrongfully condemned to death, escapes from prison and becomes a powerful and wealthy man, who then avenges himself on his enemies. The play is well written and directed, and the acting is excellent.

BELIEVE (REHEARSAL)

As in the review of "Believe" at Clifford, the leading rôle is conspicuously filled by the vivacious and gay Miss Mae Collins, who is making her debut in the musical comedy. She is a生力军 in the cast, and the play is well directed by Mr. George Bernard Shaw's "Mrs. Warren's Profession." The result is a pleasant evening's entertainment.

MISS MAE COLLINS

has had to relinquish some of her brightest players. This season Mr. Clifford is starring in a new musical comedy in two acts, called "Believe Me." It is a farce with a plot with many complications, but it has other features to recommend it, for it is packed with good songs, and they are sung as only Billy Clifford can sing them.

The story of the piece in brief concerns an eccentric man who has great wealth, and who wants his daughter to marry some one of the nobility. She has advertised for a butler, and about that time a friend has sent him a prospective son-in-law. The butler arrives first. The father thinks he is the rich intended son-in-law, and treats him to the best in the house, and then the prospective son-in-law arrives, and he is taken for the new butler; in fact, it is one long laugh from start to finish.

The young star is surrounded by a competent company of metropolitan players. The production is elegant and tasteful. The new offering will be seen at the Opera house next Monday night.

PRINCIPLES

Difficult—one might also say impossible—as it is to predicate the measure of success of an untried play, it is sometimes quite an onerous task to decide upon the factors to which a long-established and successful drama is indebted for its enduring popularity. For example, why is it that "The Count of Monte Cristo," a play which our fathers saw almost in their youth, is still extant? It has been played for more than a quarter of a century, and for 10 years or more has been a vehicle which one of America's foremost actors, James O'Neill, has continuously interpreted. It is simple to theorize about it, to point out this and that characteristic of the play, the righteous development of retribution, the attractive glimpse of a society life it gives, but the fact that these few plays have ever attained such success is attained by "The Count of Monte Cristo."

It is well known that the famous "Mummers" Company, notable for its pretentious productions in the field world, should have

There once was a girl in a shop,

Who said, "Will the crowds never stop?"

For year after year,

When Christmas is here,

I stand till I'm ready to drop."
